Pumpkin Pancakes
6 servings
2 cups plain low-fat yogurt
1/4 cup plus 1 tablespoon sugar
1-1/2 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1 cup 1% low-fat milk
2 tablespoons trans-fat-free tub margarine, melted
1 egg
1/2 cup canned pumpkin

Pumpkin is rich in beta-carotene and other beneficial plant nutrients. Leftover pancakes can be frozen and reheated for future use. Freeze leftover canned pumpkin in a covered container. Use canned pumpkin only, not pumpkin filling.

1. In a small bowl, mix the yogurt with the 1/4 cup of sugar. Set aside. In a large bowl, combine the 1 tablespoon of sugar with the flour, baking soda, cinnamon and nutmeg.
2. In a medium bowl, combine the milk, margarine, egg, pumpkin and yogurt-sugar mixture, stirring well. Add the wet ingredients to the dry ingredients in the large bowl. Stir until it is moist and free of lumps.
3. Lightly coat a griddle or a skillet with nonstick cooking spray, and heat to low-to-medium heat. Using a 1/4 cup measure, pour the batter onto the hot griddle. Cook until the bubbles begin to burst, then flip and cook until golden brown.

2 cloves garlic, minced
1/4 cup white wine

Greek Chick-Pea Salad

6 Servings (3 cups)

One 15-ounce can chick-peas (garbanzo beans), rinsed and drained
1 small tomato, seeded and chopped
1/2 cup diced peeled cucumber
2 green onions with green tops, sliced
1/4 cup coarsely chopped Italian parsley
2 tablespoons red wine vinegar
2 tablespoons extra virgin olive oil
1/4 cup (1 ounce) crumbled feta cheese
1/4 teaspoon freshly ground pepper

A good source of protein, fiber and iron, chick-peas are a staple food throughout most of the Western world. Here, these crunchy, nutty legumes appear in a version of Greek salad, a pretty combination of red and green vegetables and white feta cheese. You might want to add some black Greek or Moroccan olives (add the correct exchange) and serve as a first course over lettuce. This salad will keep nicely in the refrigerator for up to two days.

1. Combine the chick-peas, tomato, cucumber, onions and parsley in a medium bowl.
2. In a small bowl, whisk together the vinegar and oil; pour over the bean mixture and toss well to mix. Just before serving, sprinkle the salad with cheese and pepper.
